Contributing Authors

John DeMado

John DeMado has been a vocal advocate for second-language acquisition in the United States for many years. He started his career as a middle/high school French and Spanish teacher, before entering the educational publishing profession. Since 1993, Mr. DeMado has directed his own business, John DeMado Language Seminars, Inc., a company devoted exclusively to language acquisition issues. He has authored numerous books in French, Spanish, and ESL that span the K–12 curriculum. Mr. DeMado served as the lead consultant for program content at all levels. He created and recorded the On rappe! songs for Levels 1 and 2.

Séverine Champeny

Séverine Champeny, a native of Provence, has been involved in the development of French language educational programs for over 17 years. She has worked on print and media products ranging from introductory middle-school texts to advanced college-level texts. She created activities for the core sections of the chapters. She authored the Télé-roman scripts and wrote activities for the DVD Tutor.

Marie Ponterio

Marie Ponterio is a native of France and teaches French language and civilization at the State University of New York College at Cortland. She's the author of the web site Civilisation française and the recipient of several awards from Multimedia Educational Resource for Learning and Online Resources. She has co-authored video activities for several high-school textbooks for Harcourt. She has co-authored the culture notes in the program and reviewed all the Géoculture sections.

Robert Ponterio

Bob Ponterio is Professor of French at the State University of New York College at Cortland where he teaches all levels of French. He is a moderator of FLTEACH, the Foreign Language Teaching Forum e-mail list. He has published numerous articles and is a recipient of the Anthony Papalia Award for Outstanding Article on Foreign Language Education and the Dorothy S. Ludwig Award for Service to the FL profession. He has co-authored the culture notes in the program and reviewed all the Géoculture sections.

Why Study French?

French Can Take You around the World!

Margot M. Steinhart, Ph.D.

Chers élèves,

Formidable! You have chosen to learn French, the most frequently studied world language after English, and are becoming a citizen of the world. Your sphere immediately expands to include 175 million French speakers in more than 50 countries and millions of people who have studied French on five continents. And did you know that about 2 million people speak French as a first language in the U.S.?

In addition to learning the language, you will discover the uniqueness of many cultures from around the world. You will have the opportunity to explore Quebec, the Caribbean, West and North Africa, Europe, and the Pacific Ocean islands, to name a few. It is remarkable that through one language, French, the richness of these diverse regions can be learned and experienced. You can connect to the Francophone world through e-mail correspondence or by travel and study experiences.

Did you select French because it is a language associated with renowned artists, literary giants, medical, scientific, and technological break-through discoveries, and an enviable sense of style? French can also improve your English-language skills since French is more like English than is any other Romance language, such as Italian and Spanish. More than 30% of English vocabulary is derived from French. How many French expressions related to government, law, food, art, music, dance, cinema, literature, architecture, fashion, or diplomacy do you already know: coup d'état, bon appétit, faux pas, genre, à la mode, pas de deux, carte blanche, and déjà vu?

As you plan your future, French can lead to fulfilling careers in many fields: manufacturing, finance, law, government, education, the sciences, journalism, advertising, telecommunications, tourism and hospitality. Your language skills will also benefit you in working with international agencies like the International Red Cross, UNESCO, the World Health Organization, and the International Olympic Committee. Did you know that the majority of U.S. exports are to countries having French as a national language? Exports to bilingual Canada alone are greater than the combined exports to all countries south of the United States. Approximately $1 billion in commercial transactions take place between the U.S. and France each day. In terms of emerging markets, French-speaking Africa occupies an area larger than the U.S.

You undoubtedly chose French for very personal reasons. Imagine yourself as a fluent speaker of the language, communicating in French with people all around the globe, being an international student in a French-speaking country, or attending the Cannes Film Festival. How about serving in the Peace Corps in a Sub-Saharan African country, working with Médecins sans Frontières (Doctors Without Borders), or negotiating a business deal for a multinational company?

As you continue your journey as a French speaker, and as you open doors to opportunities that become possible just because you have chosen to communicate in French, let me wish you Bonne chance! (Good luck!). May you enjoy the adventure that awaits you.

Bonne Continuation,

Margot M. Steinhart

Le monde francophone

Welcome to the French-speaking World

Did you know that French is spoken not only in France but in many other countries in Europe (Belgium, Switzerland, Andorra and Monaco), North America (New England, Louisiana and Quebec province), Asia (Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia), and over twenty countries in Africa? French is also the official language of France's overseas territories like Martinique, Guadeloupe, French Guiana, and Reunion.

As you look at the map, what other places can you find where French is spoken? Can you imagine how French came to be spoken in these places?
